THE BRAND AT A GLANCE

Calm, personal, expert.

My Yoga Classes pairs every student with a certified teacher for live, one-on-one sessions. The brand should feel like a deep breath: warm, grounded, and quietly premium. Never loud or gimmicky.

Voice: warm and encouraging, plain-spoken, expert without being preachy. Speak to one person, not a crowd. Favor short sentences and verbs that feel calm: breathe, move, restore, show up. Avoid hype words, all-caps shouting, and crash-diet "transform your body" language.

LOGO

The mark & lockups

DO

- ✓ Keep clear space around the mark equal to the height of the circle "head".
- ✓ Use teal-on-cream or cream-on-teal for maximum warmth and contrast.
- ✓ Use the icon-only mark when the name appears elsewhere on the layout.

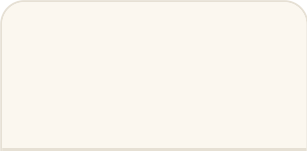

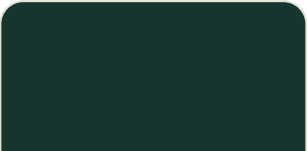

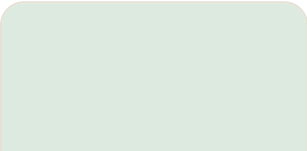

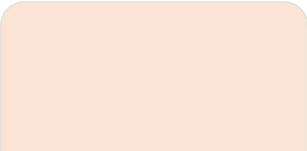

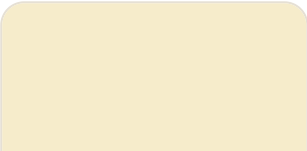

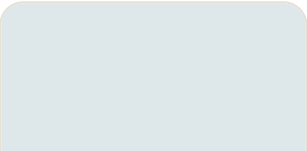

DON'T

- ✗ Don't recolor the mark outside the brand palette or add gradients/shadows.
- ✗ Don't stretch, rotate, or crowd the logo against busy photos.
- ✗ Don't place the cream logo on light or low-contrast backgrounds.

COLOR

Palette

Deep forest green anchors the brand; warm coral is the single accent that drives the eye to actions. Cream keeps everything soft and editorial.

 Forest Green #0F5C4E Primary · brand color	 Coral #FF6A4D Accent · CTAs only	 Cream #FBF7EF Background	 Ink Green #16352E Body text
 Mint #DCEAE0 Soft surface	 Peach #FBE3D5 Soft surface	 Butter #F6ECCB Soft surface	 Sky #DEE8EA Soft surface

The 60-30-10 rule for ads: ~60% cream space, ~30% forest green, ~10% coral reserved for the one thing you want clicked. Coral should appear once per layout.

TYPOGRAPHY

Type system

An elegant serif for headlines paired with a clean grotesque for everything else. Italics in coral add a gentle, human accent.

Quick rules for every ad: one headline, one CTA, lots of breathing room. Put the coral only on the button. Keep photography natural and warm-lit (real people, soft light, calm spaces). No neon, no stock-y "extreme fitness" energy. Copy note: don't use "free" or "no credit card" claims in public copy; lead with the 1:1 story.
